

1. Dr. Cheryl Rosenfelt: She has been an incredible help in small animal anatomy. Anytime our group needs help identifying structures and just wants to review material, she is more than willing to come over and explain everything. She takes her time explaining the material and honestly I would not be surviving anatomy without her. I truly feel like she brings so much knowledge to every student she talks to. She loves to teach and is always there to help! I feel like she is very overlooked since she is not technically an anatomy professor, but she is always present and has been the best teacher. - Anonymous
2. Cheryl Rosenfeld: She is so kind and the most helpful part of anatomy lab!!! Always willing to help and very sweet :) - Anonymous
3. Max Kneib : They always help other understand lecture and lab material and are always willing to help - Wyatt Abplanalp
4. Giedre Turner: Giedre has been vital to our lab, staying on top of our inventory, communicating with clients, making sure all invoices are sent out and paid, and keeping the lab organized. If there is an issue of any kind, she goes above and beyond to solve the issue! She deserves much acknowledgement and appreciation! - Anonymous
5. Jennifer Hamilton: She does it all. Magnificent multi tasker and Force Multiplier. - Anonymous
6. Lisa McCubbins: Handles all student affairs and manages events with AWESOMENESS. - Timothy Snider
7. Lashae Wright: I have been dealing with several medical emergencies, both mine and members of my family, and I have been out a lot. Lashae is one of the people who has picked up my slack and has done so without making me feel bad about it. I really appreciate it. - Anonymous
8. Eric Mathis: He is always willing to assist us whenever we have questions about quality tasks. - Anonymous
9. Abigail Fitzsimmons: I have been out of the lab a lot recently for a variety of medical emergencies and Abby has helped pick up my slack with no guilt trip. I really appreciate it. - Anonymous
10. Debra Sharpe: Debra works so hard to keep our molecular department running smoothly at the VMDL. She is always quick to answer our inquiries and requests. I do not know what we would do without her! - Anonymous
11. Dr. Rosenfeld: She is amazing at helping us in anatomy and is the reason I'm a little less stressed leaving lab! - Anonymous
12. Heather Gibson: I've had a lot of medical emergencies in my life to deal with and that has kept me out of the lab more than I'd like. Heather has helped pick up my slack without making me feel guilty. I appreciate it. - Anonymous
13. Izak Barnes: Izak has been instrumental and extremely helpful and kind when I have been doing clinical research in the equine hospital. Thank you so much, I can't do it without you! - Anonymous
